PREPARATION OF PLAYERS ASSOCIATION

SALARY ARBITRATION EXHIBITS

All Players Association exhibits were prepared from information contained in the business records of the Association including : (1) Joint Exhibit One; (2) Uniform Player's Contracts and contract information received in the regular course of business; and (3) other information received from the Office of the Commissioner.

A standard method for placing a value on each Player's contract attributable to 2008 was used in preparing these exhibits. The value of each contract for the year 2008 was calculated by adding each of the following:

- (1) All salary, deferred compensation, and performance, award, and attendance bonuses specifically attributed in the contract to 2008;
- (2) The amount of any signing bonus, option buyout, or similar payment, set forth in the contract, divided by the number of years of the contract term; and
- (3) The amount of any deferred compensation not specifically attributed in the contract to 2008, divided by the number of years of the contract term.

Effective 2001, to the extent any deferred or advance payments to the player either do not include an interest factor, or include one that is higher or lower than that described in Article XV(K) of the Basic Agreement, the value of the payment has been adjusted up or down to conform to the Article XV(J) rate. From 1979-2000, deferrals with any interest were not discounted and the fixed interest rate of 9% was utilized.

- (4) The actual cost to the Club of any insurance policy, divided by the number of years of the contract term; and
- (5) The amount of any loan, only to the extent it is given at a loan rate lower than the Article XV(K) rate.

Where possible, a market value is attributed to non-monetary terms, such as personal travel or translators. No value is attributed to other non-monetary terms, such as no-trade provisions or salary guarantees.
